

feminist.com

A THRIVING FEMINIST COMMUNITY FOSTERING
AWARENESS, EDUCATION AND ACTIVISM

"Changing the world for the better takes passion, dedication, information, resources, and mutual support...Feminist.com puts it all at our fingertips." — Gloria Steinem

For almost 20 amazing years, Feminist.com has promoted activism, been a networking engine, and served as an online "home" for women all over the world, advancing women-friendly organizations, increasing civic involvement, and promoting self-sufficiency, spiritual health and general wellness. We make the global personal by connecting women and girls to new ideas, information, organizations and each other—and by providing a safe space for diverse dialogue on issues ranging from health and parenting, to social justice, to activism and anti-violence. Working with an extensive network of collaborators, Feminist.com serves as host, promoter, and partner with other websites, organizations, and feminist thinkers and activists, bringing together people of varied backgrounds and interests, and generating new and innovative programs that serve to strengthen feminism and women's movements on the local and global levels.

"A wealth of information on feminism, activism, government, and gender resources for an array of political persuasions."

— Wired Magazine

- * Closing in on 2 million visitors a year!
- * A pioneering women's site since 1995.
- * Recognized by The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, Ms. Magazine and other notable publications.
- * Featured by over 5,000 websites and search engines.
- * The first official home for leading women's organizations like V-Day, Girls Inc., Equality Now, The Ms. Foundation for Women, and others!
- * A hub for feminist and progressive thought leaders like the Women's Media Center, Nobel Women's Initiative, Omega Institute, MomsRising, Women for Women International, and The White House Project...to name just a few!
- * Supported by an advisory board featuring some of the most influential women of our time, including Eve Ensler, Jane Fonda, Carol Gilligan, Gloria Steinem, Alice Walker, and many others!

Founder and Executive Director

Marianne Schnall,
author of Daring to Be Ourselves

Board of Directors

Karen Obel Cape
Ophira Edut
Tamera Gugelmeyer
Sheherazade Jafari
Tom Kay
Jennifer Meyerhardt
Amy Richards
Marianne Schnall
Pamela Shifman
Susan Celia Swan
Jamia Wilson

Feminist.com is a
501(c)3 non-profit organization
Feminist.com
P.O. Box 668, Woodstock, NY 12498
Tel: 845.679.0576

mail@feminist.com
www.feminist.com
Twitter: @feministdotcom

For close to 20 years, Feminist.com has served as the definitive online hub for resources and information dedicated to women's equality, justice, wellness and safety. We have provided space for building and facilitating connections around such issues as women's rights, anti-violence activism, faith and spirituality, and women's leadership in health, politics, education, and business.

At Feminist.com, we are committed to creating new and innovative programs that are meaningful to the almost 2 million people who visit our site each year – programs that strengthen feminism and women's movements on the local and global levels. Here are just a few of our exciting initiatives!

OUR INNER LIVES

Spirit, Faith & Action

www.ourinnerlives.com

Feminist.com was among the first feminist groups to recognize the importance of connecting faith and feminism. In 2010, supported by a grant from The Sister Fund, we partnered with the Omega Institute for Holistic Studies, REVEAL: The Next Generation of Feminine Spirituality and, most recently, Auburn Theological Seminary to develop our new microsite, Our Inner Lives.

Our Inner Lives honors women's inner lives of faith, religious practice, spiritual transformation and commitment to causes greater than ourselves. We believe that caring for our inner lives makes us more effective in the world, and, simultaneously, being passionately engaged in the world nourishes us inside. We invite you to join us on Our Inner Lives and share the ways faith and feminism interact in your life.

YOUNG VOICES

Young Voices is an innovative program inspired by the groundbreaking work of, and created in collaboration with, renowned feminist and scholar, Carol Gilligan. Set to launch in fall 2012, Young Voices will raise awareness about the cultural assumptions around gender that affect the learning and development of both boys and girls – and offer resources for girls and boys of all ages, and the parents, educators and adults who care about them.

MEN & WOMEN AS ALLIES

"Only Together Can We Achieve Equality"

Developed in partnership with leading anti-violence organization Men Can Stop Rape (MCSR), Men & Women as Allies will be a co-branded microsite that explores what it means for men and women to collaborate in pursuit of gender equality, to positively redefine masculinity, and to work towards creating cultures free of violence. Men & Women as Allies is based on the belief that men must engage with feminism in order to achieve true equality, and feminist work must seek to include and encourage the participation of men.

WOMEN & PEACE

Feminist.com's new Women & Peace section will be dedicated to women's peacemaking work around the world and to better understanding women's role in building peace and mitigating conflict. Women & Peace will showcase women's groundbreaking peace-building work across the globe, elevate women's voices through their stories and expert analysis on peace and conflict, and offer critical tools for action and advocacy.

ANTI-VIOLENCE RESOURCE GUIDE

A section developed and maintained by Feminist.com providing information and links to hundreds of anti-violence resources including emergency hotlines, U.S. and international organizations, publications, and statistics. In collaboration with and supported by our longtime partner, V-Day.